As part of their US special interest range Theme Publications will be launching SPACE USA a 200page guide to over 400 space-related places including space centers, museums, observatories and planetariums. There are extended sections for major attractions and along with useful general information most entries have on and offline contact detail.

For enthusiasts, travel, media or industry professionals and event planners it will be available from the publisher by mail worldwide through a US online retailer at www.buffguides.com fall 2005.
